Citizen University's Annual National Conference - March 21, Seattle

Citizen University's annual national conference is the country's most creative and vibrant gathering on the art of powerful citizenship. Please join us and hundreds of activists, innovators and educators from across the United States for a day of skill-building and inspiration. Learn the elements of civic power. Practice social and political action. Connect with people from left and right so we can solve problems together. America today is in the midst of a revival of citizen spirit. !

Presenter News - Just added as a workshop presenter: Daniel Maree, the founder and executive director of Million Hoodies Movement for Justice. After Florida teen Trayvon Martin was shot, Daniel Maree founded the Million Hoodies Movement for Justice, to protect young minorities from racial profiling and gun violence. The group helped collect two million signatures on Change.org petitioning for the arrest of George Zimmerman, the shooter later acquitted in Martin's death. Daniel is also a Grand Prize Winner of the 2013 Do Something Awards and was recently named to the 2014 Forbes Magazine 30 under 30 list. Cristina Jiménez, Co-Founder, United We Dream, is featured in today's NYTimes: Young Immigrants Turn Focus to President in Struggle Over Deportations

Just added to the Salon line-up: Seattle singer-songwriter Ayron Jones, has become one of Seattle's hottest up-and-comers with his own brand of music dubbed, "Urban Rock." A hard-core version of the blues with the essence of Hip-Hop and the raw energy of Punk, drizzled with that famous Seattle sound. Ayron is opening for BB King in Seattle next week!

We're going to have fantastic gathering for an ever-growing movement of people like you — from all walks of life, from left and right — who want to revitalize citizen spirit in this country.

The creepy, crawlies have returned! St. Urho Party-Dance, April 4

- by Joanne Rudo

This is an Important Message

This is not an April Fool's joke!

The creepy, crawlies have returned! St. Urho Party/Dance—Friday, April 4th 7:30 p.m., Cedar Valley Grange

The green crunchy Locustidae (Acrididae) and Tettigonidae are once again attempting to decimate the lush, bountiful vineyards of Finland! Yummy, yummy, munch, crunch, creep, crawl and munch some more!

Finnish grapes are sooo good! There is some serious munching to do. How could life get any better? Look, there is another field! No worry about weight gain for these critters!

Finnish grapes are some of the most succulent, delightful grapes known to the wine world. It is no wonder that these green creepy marauding insects choose to dine in the lush Finnish vineyards. As the voracious, crawly, green grasshoppers started to destroy Finland's famous vineyards, the wine connoisseurs throughout the world, began to cry with great anguish, "Is there someone who can save these wonderful grapes so that the famous wines from Finland can still be enjoyed?" How could the world survive without the Finnish Syracuse, Chardonnays, Merlot and other gourmet wines?

Who could lead the battle against these hordes of hungry grasshoppers? A brilliant defense would be needed. The line against the enemy must be held! Someone with great courage and skill is needed. Russell Wilson of the Sea hawks and Peyote Manning a Denver Bronco player, were both contacted. Unfortunately, they were both involved with other lucrative opportunities. Let's face it, who in their right mind would want to go in a field with thousands of chirping hungry insects?

Without any hesitation, our hero, St. Urho came to defend the very vulnerable Finnish vineyards. There were many turnovers and interceptions made by the grasshoppers, but St. Urho continued to fight. St. Urho was hit with such ferocity that the creepy crawlies thought that his will would surely be deflated. However, St. Urho stood with immense fortitude and courage armed with only a rake, shouted with great emotion, "Hereinafter, hereinafter, meme Alta thirteen!" Translated into English, it means, "Grasshopper, grasshoppers, get the ??? out of Finland! You can imagine the word that was left out but this newsletter does go out to families. The grasshoppers, quaking with fear, left the Finnish vineyards and wine from the Midnight Sun was once again available to all.

Come pay homage to this great man as Skandia along with Katrilli presents a St. Urho party and dance. The celebration will begin at 7:30 pm. with Katrilli teaching some fun Finnish mixers including the grape stomping dance. Along with the Scandinavian dances, Folk Voice with their multitude of instruments, will entertain throughout the night with some tangos, swing and even some tunes from south of the Midnight Sun. Of course, what would the gathering be without Pat McDonald leading us through the Grasshopper Humppa? There will be many mixers and lots of opportunities to dance, so come with or without a partner. Since this is a fun evening, it would be a very good time to introduce new people to Skandia.

Patti and Bob Larson, last year's St. Urho and Urhoiina, will take their final royal and saintly walk. Although, the Larson's have had many profound experiences having the honor of being St. Urho and Urhoiina, they are tired. It is time for another saintly couple. There will be a mini-pronunciation workshop of the chant. Then the fierce competition will begin in hopes of being crowned the new St. Urho and Urhoiina. It takes great energy and conviction to frighten hordes of grasshoppers so consider practicing the chant at home so that your chances of fame and glory will be increased!

During intermission, Harvey Niebulski and Marianne Tatom, will provide infectious music with a Klezmer tang. Lots of goodies will be offered for happy munching and then it will be time for the often sought after unwanted door prizes. It is important to be properly attired for this auspicious event, so please wear St. Urho colors of green and purple. For further information on saintly and non-saintly issues, please contact JoAnne Rudo: 206-329-1443.
