

You're Invited!
EHC's 2016 Ethnic Potluck Picnic

Join us for another delightful picnic--this time with a breathtaking view from Daybreak Star Indian Cultural Center at Seattle's Discovery Park.

Ethnic Heritage Council 2nd Annual Ethnic Potluck Picnic
Sunday, August 14, 2016, 2-5 pm
United Indians of All Tribes Foundation
Daybreak Star Indian Cultural Center
5011 Bernie Whitebear Way
RSVP by August 10 to rsvp@ethnicheritagecouncil.org

Bring an ethnic or favorite dish or dessert to share! You'll have a chance to tell us about the tradition behind the food you've brought . . . and your dish may win a prize! We'll have prizes for the Most Interesting Ingredients, Most Flavorful, and the Most Colorful dishes!

Bring your songs and instruments. Join in ethnic-themed games. Invite your family and friends. Meet new friends from our multi-ethnic communities.

The Daybreak Star Indian Cultural Center is located on 20 acres in Seattle's Discovery Park in the Magnolia neighborhood. The address to Discovery Park is: 3801 West Government Way. Once inside the park, follow the signs directing to Daybreak Star.

To travel by Seattle Metro Bus, take #33 towards Magnolia from 4th and Pike/Pine to the final stop. Follow the signs directing the .4 mile walk to Daybreak Star.

Daybreak Star map and directions

See you on August 14th!

Bernie Whitebear
Founder

The Daybreak Star Indian Cultural Center is the home of United Indians of All Tribes. The building is an impressive example of modern architecture incorporating traditional cedar and many elements of the Northwest Native design. You're invited to view the Native artwork on the second floor, including the display honoring Bernie Whitebear and the Filipino community in the Bernie Whitebear Room. Enjoy the many trails, take a walk to the reflecting pond, camp ground, and the sweat lodge while enjoying the amazing views of both Shilshole Bay and Elliott Bay.

Opening in 1977 after seven years of struggle and development, the Daybreak Star Indian Cultural Center owes its existence to Native American activists. In 1970 led by Bernie Whitebear, the Indian community and supporters staged a non-violent occupation of a portion of the land "by right of discovery" for the use of Indian people, after most of the Fort Lawton military base was declared surplus by the U.S. Department of Defense.

Daybreak Star serves as an event venue and conference center. It's popular for powwows, weddings and meetings. The center houses a multi-ethnic pre-school, Native Workforce staff, Ina Maka Family Services, Foster Care program, and the Sacred Circle Art Gallery. The center is the nucleus of Native American cultural activity in this region. For more information visit: Daybreak Star Center

Ethnic Heritage Council | 305 Harrison Street, Room 312 | Seattle, WA 98109
info@ethnicheritagecouncil.org | 206.443.1410 | www.ethnicheritagecouncil.org

